Texas divorce law includes:

- Residency & Waiting Requirements: One spouse must have lived in Texas for at least 6 months, and in Travis County for at least 90 days prior to filing; there's a mandatory 60-day waiting period before a final decree can be entered Stange Law Firm, PC.
- Grounds for Divorce: We handle both no-fault ("insupportability") and fault-based grounds (including adultery, cruelty, abandonment, felony conviction, living apart, and long-term confinement) Stange Law Firm, PC.

- Spousal Maintenance: Available in limited situations—such as long marriages (10+ years), disability, custodial responsibilities, or family violence—subject to need, duration, and statutory limits Stange Law Firm, PC.
- Conservatorship: Focuses on the best interests of the child, offering Joint or Sole Managing Conservatorship based on circumstances, including safety concerns Stange Law Firm, PC.
- Child Support: Calculated based on net income—20% for one child, up to 40% for five or more—with payments typically continuing until the child turns 18 or graduates high school Stange Law Firm, PC.
- Name Changes: A return to a pre-marriage name can be included in the divorce decree; changing to a new name requires a separate petition Stange Law Firm, PC.
